Renates of Old Cenfederates—Speeches of Old Rodders—Parode of Colored Forces—The Growth and Enterprise of a New Town. [Correspondence of the Richmond Diapatch.]
Sourn Boston, July 5, 1884.
The Fourth was celebrated here yesterday by a retution of Halitax Confederates, who came together to perfect the enrolment of their officers and members, in response to the order of the Adjutant-General of the State to that effect issued some time ago.

Three companies took this occasion to carry out the plan proposed—Company C, Third Virginia cavalry. Capitain J. W. Hall, of Richmond, and Licutenant J. M. Jordan, of South Boston; Company K. Fourteenth Virginia Infantry, Capitain E. A. Tuck and Licutenant R. T. Edwards; and Company C, Fifty-ninth Virginia regiment, Capitain Ballard Bruce and Licutenant J. N. Edwards. There were fifty or sixty of these veterans, who formed on Main street, and, after marching up and down the street, drew up in the Large Flag tobacco warehouse, where a number of Indies and gentlemen had assembled to hear the speaking.

The first speaker was Joseph Stebbins, Req., who made a very handsome address, in which he drew a vivid picture of the times of war as contrasted with these happy days of pace, and held up to the rising generation the examples of patriotism which the grizzled and wrinkled old veterans before him had afforded them. He then, in terms of enjoy, presented to the andlence the speaker of the day, Capitain Henry Edmands, who was received with happlatuse.

Capitain Edmand's speech was cloquent

the old familiar rebel yell, and, again, the allusion to well-remembered indicrous scenes of the camp and the march would make the great building ring with laughter.

After the conclusion of Captain Edmund's speech, Captain J. W. Hall, responding to loud calls, made a brief, stirring speech, which was loudly applauded by his old comrades. The audience then dispersed, and for several hours the old soldiers, many of whom had not seen each other for years, mingled pleasantly together and talked of Auld Lang Syne.

In the afternoon the colored people had an attraction in the way of a turnout of the Sons and Brothers of the Mystic—something or other. In their regalia of red, orange, bine, or green they paraded the orange, bine, or green they paraded the streets, and to the sound of the drum and the, wired in and wired out, much to the entertainment and admiration of their entertainment and admiration of their dusky speciators.

A word about this new and rising town of South Boston. A brisk tobacco trade, which includes a large part of Halifax and Charlotte, and extends thirty miles into North Carolina, pushed and stimulated by some very enterprising citizens, has in five or six years made this unimportant callered station a live manufacturing and trading town of some 1,500 inhabitates. There are are here four large tobaccy factories, there for plug- and one for smoking-There are are here tour large concests; tories, three for plug- and one for smoking-tobacco; four warehouses, that Richmond or Lynchburg would not be adamed of; nine dry-goods and grocery stores, two drug stores, and a well-estab ished and successful banking-house, the Jordon Brothers, besides other lesser industries. The business-bouses are of a class not often seen in young towns, and some of the brick blocks would be decidedly orna-mental to the Main street of your city and in keeping with many of your pretty, im-posing buildings on that busy thorough-fare.

business-houses and dwellings, some of them quite pretty and imposting, are going up in every direction, and property brings a first-rate price. Among the improvements in contemplation is a new Presbyte-rian church, which is shortly to be built, $3,500 having been subscribed for that pose. A $5,000 edifice is proposed. The town was incorporated in February last, and it is neticeable that the business-men are nearly all vigorous young men, the old-est merchant being but little over forty years old. There are very low gray leads ments in contemplation is a new Presbyte est merchant being but little over forty years old. There are very few gray heads among the eftizens. This year the tobaccabusiness is nearly double that of 1883, and the purchases of the weed since January 1st amount to $300.000. The mayor is W. W. It has been raining here ever since the 27th of June. Two thirds of the wheat crop of this section is standing in the fields in uncapped stocks, and is very seriously damaged—sprouted and moulded. All to-bacco planted on lowlands is so seriously damaged as to require replanting whenever the land dries out sufficiently to be worked. Corn-fields are generally very grassy. There is some little prospect to-day for clear weather.

The wheat crop in this county is unusually fine, but the farmers are having great trouble in harvesting it. Almost incessant rams for a week or ten days have interfered seriously with a successful harvest, and in some cases wheat has suffered considerable damage. On the other hand, corn, grass, and oats, all backward, have been greatly benefited by the rains.

It is feared that the wleat, which is shocked in the fields, has been much damshocked in the fields, has been much damaged by the recent heavy and continued rains. The crop is the finest that has been harvested in this section for many years. It is learned that many of the fruit-growers in this section, by reason of the uncertainty of a crop from the improved varieties of peaches, intend to dispense altogether with the grafted stock and supplant it with the grafted stock and supplant it with the grafted stock and supplant it with the native seedlings, which are much more hardy, and stand our sudden climatic changes much better than the improved kinds. A number of farmers in this section intend to do this. It is only at rare intervals that a crop is obtained from the grafted trees, while the seedlings hit every Ex-Governor Walker was expected to deliver the annual address before the graduates, but in his absence F. M. We have had a great deal of rain for three weeks past. During the time there have been some severe storms. The rain has interfered with our harvesting, but it is hoped that the farmers will succeed in saving their crops without serious damage. Tandingk walks, bordered by velvety-green turf, studded with magnificent forest frees, made up a pretty pleture, which brought forth many exclamations of delight from our party.

At Baddwin we took the cars for Fort Tleonderoga. A rible of once miles brought us to the Fort, where we again took a gleenner called Vermont, which conveyed us down Lake Champlain to Plattsburg. Here we were met by carriages and taken to our hotels.
